

IRCCS ISMETT

is issuing a call for applications for the following no-term position:

Multidisciplinary Highly-Specialized OR Nurse (Ref. Inf OR/21)

ISMETT, Istituto Mediterraneo per i Trapianti e Terapie ad Alta Specializzazione is an Institute for high-specialty therapies with particular reference to multi-organ transplants, established by means of an International not-for-profit partnership between public and private entities including the Region of Sicily, the Ri.MED Foundation, and UPMC (University of Pittsburgh Medical Center), which manages the Institute. The Italian Ministry of Health has acknowledged ISMETT as a government-approved research hospital or Istituto di Ricovero e Cura a Carattere Scientifico (IRCCS) in the area of "End-stage organ failure treatment and research". ISMETT is one of the few hospitals in Italy to have received accreditation from Joint Commission International (JCI) since 2009, and to have achieved ERAM, HIMSS Stage 6 certification.

The Multidisciplinary Highly-Specialized OR Nurse is the health care professional responsible for the preparation, correct management, initial and final verification of all devices and materials used for surgical procedures in the OR.

He/she is responsible for the care of patients undergoing solid organ transplants and highly specialized surgical procedures requiring specific skills and training. In his or her role of scrub nurse and circulating nurse, the Multidisciplinary Highly-Specialized OR Nurse is responsible for the care of patients during their entire stay in the operating room, and applies his/her clinical knowledge using high-tech and complex instruments and devices to achieve high quality care.

He/she ensures and supervises the sterility of the operative field and of the surgical equipment, playing a crucial role in the intra-operative phase supporting all members of the surgical team serving also as circulating nurse and coordinating the implementation of the OR safety checklist.

He/she works on shifts and on-call at nights and on holidays.

The scrub nurse actively participates in the surgical procedure, collaborating with surgeons and timely and safely managing the needs and potential intra-operative critical issues, in compliance with guidelines, operating instructions, and corporate and national protocols. He/she is constantly updated on new technologies and regulations in force.

Applicants must meet the requisites and preferred qualifications of this call when filing the application and state them in the on-line form.

Requisites:

- Nursing school university degree or equivalent title.
- Enrollment in the Italian Board of Registered Nurses.

- At least one year of documented clinical experience in the operating room in one of the following specialties: cardiac surgery, thoracic surgery, abdominal surgery.
